

RENEWABLE ENERGY

consulting services

The successful development of a renewable energy project requires the services of an engineering and environmental consulting firm with a wide range of expertise and proven track record.

T&M Associates has successfully completed numerous renewable energy projects throughout the region and can assist clients from feasibility through construction. Specifically:

- Preliminary Assessment of facilities to identify opportunities and determine the most feasible technical approach
- Financial analysis of alternatives to determine estimates of savings, payback period and the impact of incentives such as loans, grants and rebates
- Detailed site planning & design
- Permitting assistance with local, state and federal agencies
- Structural & Electrical Design of systems required to support the installation
- Construction oversight to assure compliance with project specifications
